CAPITOL FIGHT
FINALLY ENDED
FOR THIS YEAR

New Rockford Makes Final Effort to Get Matter on Ballot, But It Fails

MADE SEVERAL ATTEMPTS

Supreme Court Refused to Order the Vote, and Matter Now Finally Is Ended

The oft-repeated effort of New Rockford to get on the ballot this fall the question of removing the state capitol from Bismarck to New Rockford is finally at an end.

The supreme court, in the second ruling within a week, made late yesterday, dispelled the faint remaining hope of New Rockford. Quite a bit of money was expended by New Rockford in making the fight.

It began sometime ago with a demand on Thomas Hall, Secretary of State, that the petitions filed four years ago be considered petitions for the placing of a constitutional amendment on the ballot on Nov. 4. This demand was made just after the 12-month limit for filing petitions for constitutional amendment votes had passed. Mr. Hall held he was without legal authority to do so.

The New Rockford people then went to the supreme court, asking the judgment in the case of four years ago be vacated. This was denied. A new demand was made on Mr. Hall early this week, and following his refusal, the supreme court was asked to mandate the Secretary of State to put the matter before the supreme court. The supreme court refused late yesterday afternoon, to do this.

So the fight to remove from Bismarck the title of capital city of the state is ended for the time being. It may be removed, but the effort, once dangerous, appears to be a futile move in the future.

'DRY' LEADERS
BLACKLIST MEN
HELD LIBERAL

Senator Taggard, Democrat Is Named for Political Defeat

Washington, Sept. 16.—Officials of the anti-saloon league in conference here today made public a partial list of candidates for congress against whom they will wage battle because of the candidates' position on prohibition.

Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the league, in announcing the list declared the league's policy to be that every candidate not reported favorable to rigid enforcement would be fought to finish.

Thomas Taggard, Democrat, who is opposing Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, is among those named. Mr. Wheeler declared it was imperative to defeat Taggard and re-elect Watson.

TO DESTROY "BILL SIKES" HOME, LAND-MARK OF DICKENS

London, Sept. 16.—Another Dickens landmark is to be destroyed, the house where Bill Sikes met his death as described in "Oliver Twist." It stands in a court on Jacob's Island, Bermondsey, and is being used now as a stable. The house was identified by the finding of some old plans of Bermondsey dated 1855, on one of which was marked "Bill Sikes' house."

TOKIO, Tuesday, September 14.—According to semi-official dispatches reaching Tokio concrete plans for Bolshevizing the world have been perfected in Moscow, and agents shortly will be detailed to America, Japan, China and Asia generally for the campaign. The plan includes a propaganda offensive against Germany, according to these advices, which declared Bolshevik agents already were active in England and France.

BUREAU METHOD
AIRED AT WAGE
COURT HEARING

Actions of the Minimum Wage Commission Attacked as Irregular

ASSAIL "EXCESSIVE" COST

Methods by which the members of the workmen's compensation bureau, sitting as a minimum wage commission, arrived at the conclusion on which it based its minimum wage rules were classed as "extraordinary" in the argument of attorneys, before Judge W. L. Nusselt, of district court, yesterday.

The matter was before him on the question of whether or not the temporary injunction against putting into effect the minimum wage rule should be continued. The attack on the wage rules was made by telephone companies and the state laundrymen's association.

The wage rules were promulgated by the commission, after Governor "Razler" had removed L. J. Wehe as a member, an action which one court has held to have been illegal. There were two members left on the commission, S. C. McDonald, the active member, and John Hagan, commissioner of agriculture and labor. The proposition was advanced during the argument that where the third member of a board of removed, it is necessary that the vacancy be filled before the board can promulgate rulings.

During a large part of the consideration of the question, only one member of the commission was present, and there was no record of report to the full minimum wage commission, counsel contended.

State Contention

The litigation over the rules may be long drawn-out. Assistant Attorney General Edward B. Cox, who represented the state, asked that the restraining order be dissolved, saying that it would be unfair to hold up the action of the board while the case is being fought in the highest court on other grounds than were before the court yesterday.

H. R. BITZING SECURES POST AS JUDGE ADVOCATE

Mandan, N. D., Sept. 16.—H. R. Bitzing, Mandan attorney, today received word from the adjutant general of the war department that he had been appointed as a judge advocate with the rank of major in the regular army. He has accepted the appointment and will report for duty in two weeks to the commanding officer at Fort Snelling.

Major Bitzing was for many years judge advocate of the North Dakota guard and at the outbreak of the war was stationed as a major at Camp Cody, New Mexico. He saw many months of service overseas and served during most of the time in France as first assistant judge advocate of the Second American army. During his stay in France he was promoted to lieutenant colonel. He was mustered out of the war-time army at Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville, Ky., in March of this year.

Northern Pacific Launches Department of Irrigation and Industry

St. Paul, Sept. 16.—With the creation of a department of irrigation and industry, to become operative October 1, and the appointment of E. E. Benson, at present commissioner of agriculture of the state of Washington, as department manager, J. M. Hannaford, president of the Northern Pacific railroad, today announced one of the most important projects ever attempted by a railroad to assist in the development of a great section of the country. The Northern Pacific's project will benefit the entire country traversed by this railroad.

Development of the natural resources of the territory served by the railroad, through cooperation with existing agencies, such as state agricultural colleges, county farm agents and the various activities of the federal government, is included in the program. President Hannaford announced.

Mr. Hannaford is widely known as a railroad man and an authority on agriculture and irrigation. His appointment was made by cable and letter. His acceptance was flashed to Mr. Hannaford from Shanghai, China. He is expected in St. Paul October 1 to take charge of the new department.

Mayor Thompson's Men Carry City of Chicago, While Lowden Men Lead Downstate

HALF OF WOMEN VOTED

About as Many Stayed Away From Polls as Men—Election Close in Colorado

Chicago, Sept. 16.—A close race between the Lowden and Thompson candidates today made necessary a complete count of the votes cast in yesterday's primary to determine the result. Supporters of Mayor William Hale Thompson ran strong in Chicago, winning all county and city nominations for their men, but the adherents of Governor Lowden carried the rest of the state by a large majority, leaving the political scene wavering.

Early reports from Chicago showed an average plurality for something of better than 40 to the precinct for the Thompson men, but this slump when returns from nearly half of the 2,210 Chicago polling places had been counted. Down-state the Lowden plurality averaged only 11 to the precinct at first, but gradually increased until it averaged 23 when half of the 3,264 voting districts outside Chicago had reported.

J. Hamilton Wins
On the Democratic ticket J. Hamilton Lewis won handsily over Barrett O'Hara for the gubernatorial nomination, but the race for the senate candidacy was close between Robert E. Burke and Peter Waller.

Only about half of the registered vote was cast, about the same proportion of men staying away from the polls as women.

CLOSE IN COLORADO

Denver, Sept. 16.—With both leading candidates for Republican nomination for United States senator claiming a victory it appeared probable today that a official count might be necessary to establish the result. Returns compiled by the Rocky Mountain News from 1,120 precincts of the 1,532 in the state gave Karl C. Schuyler, Denver, a lead of 2,378 over Samuel D. Nicholson, of Leadville. Most of the missing precincts are in outlying districts considered favorable to Nicholson.

A victory for the Nonpartisan league in the Democratic primaries was indicated with nearly complete returns from the principal cities and scattered returns from the rural districts.

In Denver 11 of the 12 candidates for the legislature are Nonpartisan league, as are three candidates for the senate. James Collins, Nonpartisan league candidate for governor, has a lead of 3,192 votes in two-thirds of the precincts. Judge Kelly Scott, of the state supreme court, has a lead of only 1,950 over W. R. Callotte, Nonpartisan league candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States senator, with half of the precincts.

AWARD PRIZES
AT SLOPE FAIR
FOR EXHIBITS

Burleigh County Exhibits Rank High in Livestock and County Awards

CROWD RECORD BROKEN

Increase in Pure-bred Livestock Is Noted by Secretary in Year-to-Year Exhibits

The three-day Missouri Slope fair comes to an end today, with carnival attractions and an Indian war dance and wrestling match as the closing night features.

Awards in the livestock and many of the exhibits were made today by the judges. Fair officials were declaring that the exposition this year was the most successful held for years in many ways. The attendance on the first day was smaller than last year, there being about 1,100 people in the fair grounds. The attendance for the second day—Bismarck day—reached 2,100 at 6 o'clock last evening, and the receipts at the gate and in the grandstand were the largest ever taken in Bismarck people made up most of the crowd yesterday, it being estimated that 1,500 local people went to Mandan either during the day or in the evening.

Burleigh county exhibitors ranked high at the fair. Shortage of help interfered with livestock raisers getting their exhibits to the fair. Morton county was awarded first place in the county exhibits, Burleigh second place, Barnes third and Stutsman fourth. The three other county exhibits were from Hettinger, Grant and Slope.

Exhibits Feature
These exhibits are the feature of the fair. The carnival attractions proved disappointing to most of the crowd, but the exhibits of the products of the Slope country were the "average" he could study the development of this great section of North Dakota.

"The big increase in the production of pure bred livestock in the Slope counties is very evident from the trend of exhibitors," J. A. Biggs, who has been secretary of the fair for four years, and who is given credit for its success this year.

"The poultry and agriculture exhibit, the boys and girls exhibits and the hog exhibits are far above the average," he continued. "Many livestock producers could not send their exhibits to the fair because of shortage of help, but some mighty fine stock is on hand."

The county exhibits were considered high class by T. E. Stone and Rex E. Willard, of the agricultural college, who judged them. From 100 to 150 varieties of food products were shown in the exhibits, an indication of the fertility of the Slope country they said.

Morton Wins First
The Morton county exhibit was prepared under the direction of County Agent Max Morgan. The Burleigh county exhibit, prepared by County Agent Gustafson, was a close second, and was considered the finest exhibit from an outside county. Morton county won $125 as the first prize, which goes to the development of agriculture in the county. Burleigh won $75, Barnes $50 and Stutsman, $25, fourth prize.

Two horse races were held at the fair yesterday afternoon. In the 2:25 trot or pace, a purse of $200, Park won first, Fruity Cox second and Ellis Woodford third. The time was 2:25, 2:29 3-4, 2:31, 2:29 1-4, 2:30 1-4.

In the 2:17 trot or pace, for a purse of $300, Blue Finch won first, Eliza Merrian second, Nabob third and Sineo Bell fourth. Time: 2:22 3-4, 2:25, 2:24 3-4 and 2:24 1-4.

HOLDUP MEN SHOOT FARMER IN BACK AS HE TRIES TO ESCAPE

Antler, N. D., Sept. 16.—Adolph Schutt, farmer living west of this city, is in a serious condition at the hospital at Bottineau as the result of a bullet wound received in the back from holdup men while he was driving his car home from a visit to friends on the Canadian side of the line.

Accompanied by his brother-in-law, A. Kissner, Schutt was driving at an ordinary rate of speed on his homeward trip when he passed someone shooting behind him and bullets began to whiz past his head. He speeded up his Dodge to full speed but the larger car in pursuit gained rapidly on him and finally one bullet crashed through the back of the car seat and entered his body above the kidney, struck a rib and glanced, landing in the abdominal cavity without striking any vital organ.

He and his companion then stopped the car and the pursuers catching up ordered them to get their pockets searched and the gasoline drained from their car. After the robbers left the brother-in-law succeeded in getting the car home from nearby residents.

The man with five ribs is thought by physicians. The robbers are believed to be regular holdupmen and not whiskey runners.

Many Are Killed,
Offices Wrecked

Investigators Unable to Determine Exact Cause of Explosion in Heart of Financial District as Others Attend to Wants of Injured

GUARD THROWN AROUND SUB-TREASURY

TWELVE BODIES RECOVERED

NEW YORK, September 16.—At 4:30 twelve bodies had been taken to the morgue. Unofficial estimates placed number of seriously injured at 50 and those who sustained minor hurts at 150.

NEW YORK, September 16.—After the explosion the police were inclined to the theory that it had been caused by a collision of a T.N.T. truck and automobile between the Morgan office and the sub-treasury building. So far as could be learned no prominent financiers or members of the stock exchange were injured in the explosion. Thomas W. Lamont and Henry P. Davison, members of the firm, were in the Morgan offices at the time, but were not hurt.

United States regulars from Governor's Island arrived on the scene at 12:40 for guard duty. At 1:15 p. m. the police estimated the number of injured at 200.

Police Commissioner Enright said, after conferring with members of the Morgan firm, that he had learned Elliott C. Bacon, director, was slightly injured; also Julius Spencer Morgan, another official of the company. Several employees were injured and one killed. Enright quoted firm members as stating that the blast came from the street and from within building.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—A mysterious explosion, disastrous in its effect, occurred at noon today in Wall street, killing more than a score of persons and injuring hundreds.

Office workers were just hurrying to the street for their noon-day meal when a puff of smoke arose from the center of the world's greatest financial district, in front of the offices of J. P. Morgan and Company. Then came a blast. A moment later a score of men, women and children were lying blood-covered on the pavement. Two minutes later nearly all the exchanges had closed. Men had turned from barter to an errand of mercy.

While the police force for hours searched for the dead and injured, trained investigators were trying in vain to determine definitely whether the explosion occurred from a bomb dropped in front of J. P. Morgan and Company or whether an automobile dashing into a wagon loaded with explosives had taken its toll.

Thinks It Accident
Frank Francisco, one of the most able investigators of the department of justice, declared after arriving on the scene that it was his opinion that not a bomb plot but a collision had been responsible for the blast which rocked skyscrapers, tore the fronts from office buildings for blocks around and scattered deadly missiles in all directions.

FIRE DAMAGES FAIR GROUNDS; HORSE BURNED

Mankato, Minn., Blaze Checked After a Horsebarn Is Torn Down by Volunteers

Casualties Mount
The list of casualties mounted as excited word passed from mouth to mouth and at 1:30 the unofficial estimate placed the dead at 30 but an accurate account was impossible in the intense confusion which swept the financial district.

Crowds gathered in a moment and were held back by police reserves so that it was impossible for newspaper men arriving at the scene to find out definitely just where the explosion occurred. One report had it that an automobile in front of the Morgan offices had blown up while another had a manhole exploding.

The border of governors ordered the closing of the stock exchange two minutes after the blast.

Count 8 Bodies

Newspaper men counted eight bodies on the street and the bodies of several horses. The Morgan building appeared a shambale and part of the front of the sub-treasury across the street was torn away. The forty-story Equitable building was rocked, as was all of lower Manhattan island.

It was impossible an hour after the explosion occurred to determine exactly its exact nature or location, for spectators were held back by the police.

It was reported, however, that shortly before noon an automobile with two men drew up in front of the Morgan offices and that when Morgan detectives approached the machine one man alighted and either accidentally or purposely dropped what appeared to be a bomb.

See It From Above

Occupants of a sky-scraper looking down on Wall street told another version of the explosion. They declared they had seen the car draw up and then leave it. These spectators advanced the theory that the bomb, if it was a bomb, had been timed. This version differed from the first as regards the two passengers and their chauffeurs. The first story had it they were among the dead or injured.

Excitement Reigns
Never in its history has lower Manhattan witnessed such excitement as prevailed today. Trading on both the stock and curb exchange was ordered suspended for the day a few minutes after the explosion and from then on until later New York forgot all its business matters in attending to the needs of the injured.

Five wagons and ambulances darted through the narrow street on which lay a covering of shattered glass and the broken remains of men and horses. Among the bodies were those of three girls terribly mutilated. A police cordon was hastily thrown around the financial district when thousands hearing the explosion rushed to the tip of Manhattan island. Police reports at 12:45 had 15 dead.

Guard Millions
The United States sub-treasury, immediately opposite the scene of the explosion, is not in peril.

WOMEN HUNTERS TO TAKE FIELD IN BIG NUMBERS

Over 500 Licenses Issued at Courthouse Up to Last Night, and Many More Today

Many feminine devotees of the sport of hunting will join men in every part of the state when the fall hunting season opens tomorrow.

Five hundred and thirty-three hunting licenses had been issued to Burleigh county people at the county auditor's office last night, and by 9 o'clock this morning the number was 542. There was a steady stream of applicants at the auditor's office during the day. The number issued last year was about 1100.

Among the licenses granted are licenses for two-score women. The license fee for residents is $1.50 and for non-residents is $2.50. Only one non-resident license had been issued this morning.

Hunters were devising all sorts of ways to add them in hunting prairie chickens, since the prohibition of the use of dogs. One plan reported was the stretching of a rope between two automobiles and the dragging of the prairie.

Ducks and prairie chickens will be the chief objects of the hunters when they start tomorrow. Many Bismarck parties will leave the city this evening by automobile, so that they will be ready for shooting at daylight.

NEW RECORD BY POWER BOAT

Detroit, Sept. 15.—Establishing a new world's record of 71.43 miles an hour, Gar Wood, with his Miss America, of the Detroit Yacht club, won the gold challenge cup of the American Power Boat association here, taking the final 30 mile heat of the power boat classic in 25 minutes, 27.3 seconds.

The record was made in the fifth five mile lap, which was covered in four minutes, 12 seconds. Gar Wood's average speed for the 30-mile heat today was 70 miles an hour flat. Second place in the race went to Miss Detroit V, with George Wood, at the wheel, who finished third in today's heat.

NAME CANDIDATES

Harry Epstein, alias Henry Jackson, known in the northwest as an I. W. W. organizer, who was sentenced Monday by Judge J. A. Coffey at Jamestown to 15 years in the state penitentiary for the murder of Angelo Negro, Italian farm laborer at New Rockford, began serving his sentence today. George Lathman, Epstein's confessed accomplice was sentenced to 12 years.

George Brohen, arrested with them, was given 60 days in the county jail for carrying concealed weapons while two others implicated in the shooting were released.

TRUCKLOAD OF LIQUOR RESULT OF MINOT RAID

Fargo, Sept. 15.—A truck load of liquor seized by federal prohibition officers in their raids at Minot comprising 283 quarts of King George IV and Dawson Scotch whiskey, 480 pints of Sunnybrook whiskey and 72 one-tenth pints or individual bottles of Sunnybrook reached Fargo over the Great Northern yesterday and was transported to the federal building for storage in the prohibition officers' quarters.

In addition to this quantity of booze, two truck loads of home brew beer was destroyed at Minot Monday, a few bottles of the liquor being brought to Fargo as evidence.

Eight persons arrested in Minot in connection with the raids were arraigned before the United States commissioner Monday and were placed under $1,000 bonds each to appear before the next term of the federal grand jury.

AERIAL ROUTE TO ALASKA IS PHOTOGRAPHED

New York-to-Nome Aviators Make Observations During Their Long Journey

RESULTS ACCOMPLISHED

New York Sept 16—Military and civilian aeronautical experts declare that the completion recently of the trip of four American navy aviators from New York to Nome, Alaska, was as epochal in its military and commercial importance as Elmer's first flight across the English channel, since it opens Alaska to aeronautics. Reports state that the Alaskans are determined to bring about regular communication through the air and now look to the government to foster the new project.

As the result of the flight, it is said, an aerial route has been photographed and charted diagonally across the United States, Canada and Alaska with tentative supply and air service sites.

The air board states that the following has been accomplished by the flight:

An effective aerial route to the northwest corner of the American continent and Asia has been established. Inaccessible areas in Alaska which had never been mapped have been charted and photographed. Usefulness of the airplane as a means of transport, both for mail passengers and freight has been demonstrated. Necessity of landing fields and service supply stations throughout the United States and its territories has been shown.

Durability of modern airplanes and motors has been proved and it has been learned that flying is safe. Even over territory where transport by railroad, automobile, and wagon is considered extremely dangerous.

GERMAN HOLD ON CHEMICALS DECLARED ENDED

Eight Hundred Rare Chemicals American-made Since War, Speaker Says

Chicago Sept 16—The German monopoly of rare chemicals used in research and experiments has been broken according to statements today by Dr. H. T. Clark of Rochester, N. Y. before the Organic division of the American Chemical society.

city in session here at the University of Chicago. Before the war hundreds of chemicals essential to laboratory work were made exclusively in Germany, but now 800 of the rare chemicals are American made. Dr. Clark said. A probable solution of the fuel problem was advanced before the chemists when two coal substitutes were suggested. Professor P. Schoen of the University of Texas said lignite, a half formed coal found in Canada, North Dakota and Texas has great possibilities as a cheap fuel. Coal can be converted and a cheap and valuable gas made through the use of a by-product coke oven according to a report made by F. W. Serr, Jr. and E. H. Bird of Pittsburgh. Coke oven gas is coming into favor in regions where the natural gas supply is falling. A liquid fuel which can be used as a fertilizer can now be obtained as a by-product in the manufacture of cement from Illinois shale. Professor M. I. Austin and S. W. Parr told the society.

LAKE FREIGHT BUSINESS HAS BIG INCREASE

Railroads Unable to Handle All the Traffic Offered, So Shippers Use Waterways

Cleveland Sept 16—Passenger and package freight lines on the Great Lakes this season will have the largest business in their history, according to estimates of local vessel men.

The total net tonnage in bituminous and anthracite coal, iron ore, stone and grain carried by lake freighters, however, the said will again fall about 23,000,000 tons behind the banner year of 1917. The record was then placed at 114,614,015 net tons. This year's total in these lines is expected to just about equal last year's 91,781,738 net tons.

Officials of passenger boat lines on Lake Erie say the great increase in their business is due to the railroads' inability to handle the volume of business offered them and because of lack of passenger and freight cars, strikes and embargoes. To these same causes is attributed the decrease in freight tonnage under what had been planned for.

Other lines report similar increases in passenger and package freight also in tourist and tourist automobile traffic. Not only are the lake lines carrying local freight between ports officials say but they also report a big increase in freight for points adjacent to lake ports the freight being forwarded by trucks and electric lines to points of destination.

It is estimated that approximately 500 Great Lake vessels engaged in transportation of coal and iron ore will handle 60,000,000 tons of iron ore and 25,000,000 net tons of bituminous coal in 1920.

MANY ARE KILLED; OFFICES WRECKED

(Continued from Page One) explosion was placed under heavy police guard to protect the millions of gold silver and paper money lodged in the great granite structure. The first efforts of the police were directed toward aiding the injured and removing the dead. At 12:40 fourteen bodies were seen lying on the sidewalk and ten others were reported taken away by volunteer workers. An emergency call was sent to Governor's Island from which a heavy detachment of soldiers was sent to New York to guard the sub-treasury and the power.

Flynn Called Federal investigators said to be headed by William J. Flynn, chief of the department of justice bureau of investigation, summoned from Washington centered their attention on these wrecks.

Some advanced the theory that the automobile had collided with a power wagon and the Dupont company was used to find out whether any of its vehicles had been in the vicinity at the time.

Other investigators sought to run down report that a bomb had been exploded in front of the Morgan building. Assistant District Attorney Tully after visiting the scene, announced his belief that the explosion could not have been due to an accident.

He announced that his staff would question all witnesses of the explosion, he said that one thing that led him to the conspiracy theory was the time the explosion took place. This was 4:40 a. m. in the morning.

IMPERIALISM REAL PERIL OF SOVIET REGIME

Correspondent Declares That Russian Government Is Almost Out of Munitions

AFRAID OF PEACE

London, Sept 16—Just as imperialism killed czarism so will imperialism be the death of Russian sovietism is the prediction made by M. Philip the Estonian foreign minister in London in analyzing the consequences of the bolshevik offensive in Poland.

While Foreign Minister, last year, M. Philip put his wife against the bolshevik at Dorpat and he is regarded as one of the best authorities in Europe on Russian political and economic conditions.

In common with representatives here of other Russian border states M. Philip is watching with profound concern the developments in Poland.

The bolsheviks are fighting Poland with the Allies ammunition which they captured from Denikin and Kolchak," he said. "This is now almost exhausted and Russia cannot renew it."

Dismissing the possibility of an attack by the bolsheviks on Lithuania, M. Philip said:

"We are ready for them. The Eastern frontier is now closed by our troops except the gates through which we are trading with Russia. The soviet government must know if it succeeds in obtaining a foothold in Lithuania the Allies would instantly cut off Russia from the vitally needed supplies it is now receiving through us. We might perish but Soviet Russia would go down with us."

M. Philip asserted that Russia's economic condition was rapidly getting worse because this was a step by step famine. He said Russia could not buy the cities will soon be woolly.

AFRAID TO RELEASE ARMS

The Soviet government's policy has been to release its enormous arms stockpile. It is now a problem throughout the whole of Russia and if the men who are comparatively well paid for were to release their own arms a revolution would result.

The chief terror which the Soviet rulers have to face is peace and demobilization.

"The time today is aflame," he concludes, "and the task of extinguishing the conflagration cannot be postponed. The situation demands the ratification of President Wilson's fourteen points which constituted the basis for the Treaty, but which is wholly ignored at Versailles. All artificial edifices that were erected upon a crumbling foundation are threatened with imminent collapse. The fate of Poland is a horrible example. The Polish state can only be saved by its dealing with President Wilson's words it constitutes an unchangeable Polish topknot."

THEY'RE ALL ALIKE
Any woman will tell you that men are all alike and always have been, and always will be. And there seems to be something in that.

For evidence, go back to the 17th century, and give a hearing to Jean de la Bruyere, a celebrated essayist. In a treatise, "On Human Nature in Womanhood," this fellow said:

"If it is for men that women paint and besmear themselves, I can tell them that all men, or nearly all, have agreed that white and red paint makes them look hideous and frightful; that red paint alone ages and disfigures them; that men solemnly protest against all artifices women employ to make themselves look ugly.

"If women were by nature what they make themselves by art; if they were to lose suddenly all the freshness of their complexions, and their faces to become as fiery as they make them with the red paint they besmear themselves with, they would consider themselves the most wretched creatures on earth."

Thus in the 17th century de la Bruyere was giving vent to the same sort of criticism that may be heard today among men who have no appreciation for the graphic complexion. Men are all alike. De la Bruyere is forgotten, but girls still paint.

ITALY'S REVOLUTION

What can revolutionary leaders do when their government refuses to fight them, and invites them to work out their salvation as best they may? That is the baffling problem Premier Giolitti has presented to the Italian bolsheviks. They are seizing factories and mills and hoisting the red flag. Giolitti tells them they must now settle affairs with the owners of the plants, as a matter of civil procedure.

That is to say, the Italian government refuses to permit the employers to use the army as their weapon. The army is not an instrument for settling disputes about ownership. That is Giolitti's ruling. Its wisdom is beyond question. The direct action hotheads must be given a chance to cool off.

Perhaps, when everybody's ardor abates, as always happens eventually in Italy, the majesty of the law can safely summon troops to uphold the rights of ownership. But, if that solution be attempted too quickly, it will play into the hands of the bolshevik leaders.

The Italian workmen, having seized the tools of their trades, are being invited to improve on the system they are trying to supplant. The owners of factories and mills have announced, meanwhile, that they will not be responsible for any work done nor for credit granted. This, the real answer to the revolutionary seizure of factories and mills, has been the stoppage of all executive work.

The direct actionists have always scoffed at executive work. The hour has now come when they must try to get results without it. In the short time the revolution has been under way they have failed to do so. Wages are not being paid and work lags. Food is no more plentiful than before.

FEAR OF POVERTY

In the era marked by the reign of Queen Victoria, people of the middle class were obsessed by the fear of poverty—not the real poverty that makes people hungry, but the 'reduced circumstances' that might keep them from being 'respectable.' How awful if they should lose their money and have to work with their hands or to go along without a servant!

And now, as a writer in the London Spectator points out, thousands of well-to-do people have lost their money and their servants, and because others also have lost they still remain 'respectable' and do not cringe or quiver when they meet their cousins whom the war has happened to enrich. And many of them, too, have worked with their hands and liked it. So they know that what they thought the worst is not so bad, and they can face life with a courage that they never knew before, ready to meet each situation as it comes and take no anxious thought for the morrow. The very insecurity of the times has taught people to respect themselves and not the position that the self was once so often sacrificed to maintain. What a relief!

Religion and philosophy have always maintained that "the Kingdom of Heaven is within you" and that it was hard for a rich man (or one who would be rich) to enter into it because he sacrificed the self within for the riches that he wanted to maintain or get. And to common sense it is clear enough that in a world of change the best gift to one's children is strength and intelligence and a reasonable education with which to make their own way through the world. But fashion is supreme, and what Bernard Shaw has called the "middle-class morality" of Mid-Victorian England and America accented the respectability of formal observances and servants and possessions.

Avoidupois often passes for poise.

The drummer's expense account looks plenty big these days without the padding.

We can think of a thousand things more thrilling than Senate campaign fund inquiry.

Uncle Sam is giving his army recruits a regular education in camp. Triggernometry is one of the studies.

Chinese Minister Koo is to trade jobs with Chinese Minister Szo. These Oriental customs are Szo Koorious.

A San Francisco chauffeur stole $59,000 and a $1,000 reward was offered for him, but the cops didn't like the odds.

After a vacation at the beach the young man comes home as blase as the London busman who said legs were no treat to him.

It is probably unnecessary to explain that the druggist who displayed a sign, "Say It With a Brick," in his window was referring to ice cream.

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinions of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

TOWNLEY FREEDOM OF PRESS

Recently there was in Duluth the man who owned the first newspaper suppressed by the Nonpartisan league in North Dakota. This man is a Dane. He has been in the United States some eight years. After working as a printer, he had published a paper in a small Dakota town.

In it he had invested all his savings, about $3,800, the result of his years of work here. When Townley organized his socialist party this man opposed it. He was not granted the right of freedom of speech. He believed that the guaranty of the freedom of the press in America meant what it said. He was to learn differently.

A meeting of Nonpartisans was called in his country. They were told to refuse to take his paper. They did. He was bankrupted, financially ruined. He lost all he had invested, but kept his self-respect. His was not the only newspaper property ruined in the same way. The second man to suffer lost a $10,000 property.

That is the way the Townleyites treat freedom of speech and freedom of the press where they are in control. Their laws favor their own newspapers which are given all public printing. By every means possible all others are suppressed. They go as far as they dare in the path of the bolshevik who in Russia permit only newspapers which favor them.—Duluth News-Tribune.

SUCCESSFUL CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING

The citrus fruit growers of California, according to information compiled by their agency, have again been successful in marketing their fruits and perishable food products at a lowest cost. This cost for the entire output was the lowest marketing cost of any perishable food product in America. Transacting a volume of business aggregating over $81,000,000 the handling cost was one and one-third per cent. The production was oranges, grape fruit and lemons. The fruit growers' society handled over 73 per cent of the entire citrus output of California last year, and the returns to the members for fruit shipped by the exchange will be approximately $60,000,000.

Owing to the business-like organization and the co-operation system the expense of marketing the fruit was less than it was ten years ago. Increased freight rates have not added to the retail cost of the fruit. The prices received are determined by supply and demand. The producer of perishable fruit must sell at what the public is willing to pay. There are 10,500 members of the fruit growers' exchange who elect the officers and have a direct voice in the co-operative non-profit system. Packing house, materials and fruits ranch supplies are purchased at cost.

If the fruit growers of California can co-operate and sell their products which are perishable at a satisfactory profit, through a marketing system of their own, is there any good reason why the spring wheat growers of the northwest cannot do the same thing with a product that is not perishable, and has a world-wide demand at all times? Farmers of North Dakota can do with their wheat crop what the fruit growers of California have done with their product, but not through any schemes of a political nature, which include enormous overhead costs and a fanciful system of financing the transaction on public funds, gathered together in a bank, managed by politicians on large salaries.—Jamestown Alert.

THE NONPARTISAN LEAGUE
CHAPTER IV
SELLING GOLD BRICKS TO THE FARMERS
BY A FARMER'S WIFE

THE NONPARTISAN
After the farmers had given their money and joined the league the next thing was to get them to subscribe for stock in a newspaper, or newspapers, which would "carry the truth to the people, via the Townley route". We were told that all newspapers were "kept" and belonged to the interests, that we could never hope to learn the truth from them in order to learn the exact truth the farmers must have their own papers.

So Agents were sent out to sell the farmers stock in newspapers at $20 a share.
Every leaguer subscribed to one or more shares of this stock, and my husband subscribed along with the rest. Our crops were almost a total failure that year and in order to pay for this stock when due I had to go without a new winter coat although I had had none for five years.

Stores Came Next
Early the following spring an agent for the Consumers United Stores company coaxed John into putting up one hundred dollars for a store to be built in our nearest town. The agent promised a saving of from 25 to 50 per cent on everything we bought, and as we had already been told the business men were all growing rich at our expense a good many farmers were taken in.

No Store Yet
Did we really save anything by dealing at our store and putting up one hundred dollars for the privilege? I do not know—we have no store as yet.

Finding that the name "Townley" was an open sesame to the farmer's pocketbook a board of agents for various worthless stock descended on the farmers, saying they were representatives of the Nonpartisan league. The league headquarters repudiated these when they were found out but no doubt they sold considerable stock before this happened. It grew so that scarcely a week passed without an agent calling at our home and my husband took stock in practically everything offered. We have one hundred dollars invested in a store, that is nothing but a scrap of paper, another hundred in a paper that is in the hands of the league's enemies (this is supposed to be a league paper, paid for by the farmers). Also we have many stocks of many kinds some useless and some worse than useless—and we cannot get a cent out of any of them.

A Great Sacrifice
My children have gone without sufficient clothing. I have done without any of the little pleasures that make life worth the living, and all to what purpose? That Townley may ride around in a ten thousand dollar aeroplane, making a spectacle of himself like any common circus performer, that he may ride in Pullman cars and put up at palatial hotels.

That he may have the means to carry his insidious propaganda to get other states and act neighbor against neighbor, and farmer against business man, that he may stir up class hatred, and all under the guise of helping the farmer.

May God deliver us from the friendships of such men and their unprincipled hirelings. Is it any wonder that the words "The Nonpartisan League" bring no music to my ears?

Hates Townleyism
Is it any wonder I hate the very name of Townleyism? And is it any wonder that a good many of us farm women are determined to put our ballots to the best possible use in the coming election? I have a dear friend who lives on a farm near Minneapolis, and we often exchange confidences with each other. Her husband (like mine) has been taken in by the Nonpartisan league to the tune of several hundred dollars and like myself she is against this movement. In a recent letter she tells me about a big meeting Townley held in the auditorium at Minneapolis, which she attended.

She says that after having made his speech Townley said in order to win the election this fall it would be necessary to raise $1,000,000. (A mere trifle, isn't it?). That in order to do this he wanted $100 each from 100 men in each of the counties of Minnesota.

Then he requested all who would volunteer to give this amount to stand up.

Thirty Took Bait
After a long wait about thirty or forty men arose. Evidently this did not suit Townley at all. In fact what immediately followed proved that it did not. He told them just what he thought in no uncertain terms, said the farmers were all sitting back on their haunches and it was harder to get money out of them for their own good than from any one else. This was a nice way to talk about the men who had furnished the money to build up the biggest political movement the world has ever seen, in so short a time.

Has a Temper, Too
My friend says, "Townley has a temper that would do credit to a shrew and he knows how to make use of it."

This is a fine attribute of a man who is the head of a dignified organization such as the Nonpartisan league is supposed to be, isn't it? Finally, Townley in desperation threatened to withdraw from the league unless the farmers raised what he termed a "maneuver fund" for campaign purposes. This threat has always succeeded when other means have failed and evidently it has proved successful again, as Townley is still the president of the Nonpartisan league.

HEALTH ADVICE
BY UNCLE SAM, M. D.

Effort Syndrome.
I was discharged from the army six months ago. The doctors told me I was troubled with "effort syndrome." Can you tell me something about this condition?

The Answer.
The condition you inquire about is not new, as the same train of symptoms have been observed in soldiers of all the armies in the late war, as well as the Civil War, Franco-Prussian War and Boer War, and all the others as far back as the campaigns of Napoleon.

It is not essentially a disease of soldiers, but the life led by soldiers offers favorable conditions towards its development. Previous diseases (fevers, diarrhea, influenza, gassing, etc.) are predisposing factors. There are several names for the condition effort syndrome, soldiers heart, cardiac neuroathenia, functional cardiac irritability, and others. The symptoms, briefly are: nervousness, irritability, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, giddiness, cold clammy skin, sweating, and blotching of the skin. There may, or may not be a heart murmur. The heart is usually enlarged.

The condition is improved by rest of body and mind, and especially by assuming a cheerful state and sticking to it, and by removal of any existing source of irritation or source of irritation. Digitalis is of value when given under the supervision of a good physician, and, lastly, graded exercises leading towards the performance of a normal amount of work.

Red Spots on Hands.
I have bright red spots on the palms of my hands. They break and open up like a blister in the summer.

time, but do not show in the winter. Can you tell me what the cause of this trouble is, and a remedy?

The Answer.
It is not possible merely from such description to hazard a diagnosis. So many different causes would have to be considered. By all means consult a physician, or, perhaps, a skin specialist, and have him determine the nature of your trouble.

Feet Troubles.
My feet become very sore under the toes. The skin is very soft and white and always moist. Could you advise me what to do for this condition.

The Answer.
It may be that the foot trouble you complain of is due to excess of perspiration and subsequent decomposition and laceration of the skin. It is suggested that you try bathing the feet regularly each night, and dusting them morning and night with some antiseptic dusting powder. It will probably be best for you to consult a good physician.

AS IT LOOKS TO ME

Washington, Sept. 16.—Next time you hear that some food dealer dumped a car of good eats into the river to make the price go up, laugh at it.

It was recently reported that food dealers dumped several cars of potatoes in the river near Wilmington, Del. The Department of Agriculture got letters concerning that alleged incident that were so hot they scorched the paper.

Secretary Meredith sent a man to Delaware to investigate. One man to whom the story was traced said in his fifteen years' experience on the road, he had never seen food dumped, and nobody else who would have been in a position to know, could substantiate the story.

Dumping food would seem to be an unlikely thing, unless it is spoiled and unmarketable. Sometimes potatoes are left in the ground because it doesn't pay to dig and ship them, and once the farmers of Kansas used ears of corn for firewood because the price was too low. But dumping food from cars would hardly happen, especially potatoes at the high prices they are now. Humans are sometimes mighty bad, but that would be the limit.

ITALIANS START DRIVE AGAINST FOOD SHARKS

Rome, Sept. 16.—The new Italian Premier Giolitti, has initiated a campaign against the many "sharks" as profiteers in food and clothing are called as a result of which they have been heavily fined or committed to prison whenever detected. Large fortunes have been accumulated by many of these extortioners by selling foodstuffs secretly at exorbitant prices. Nevertheless, the cost of living still is mounting in this country. Statistics issued by the municipality of Turin for the first six months of this year show that there has been an increase of at least 20 per cent in the cost of food and of 25 per cent for many articles of clothing.

In Rome, the result of abolishing the fixed price for vegetables and some other foodstuffs has been to send the price upward sharply.

DOINGS OF THE DUFFS There Seems to be Some Disagreement Here BY ALLMAN

SCHOOLS SADLY LACKING, SAYS STATISTICIAN

Points Out Serious Conditions Threatening Over Entire United States

MUST DO SOMETHING

New York, Sept. 16.—Creation of a department of education in the president's cabinet is essential to the coordination of state and municipal efforts in combating the growing menace of illiteracy in the United States, in the opinion of New York educators.

The school problem has become so serious it is not a matter of when, but of how, to solve it, said M. J. Nifenecker, director of research and statistics, said in an interview.

States and cities are now largely working out their own solutions of the educational problems. Nifenecker pointed out.

This work could be increased immeasurably in efficiency through federal co-operation, he said.

He also advocated extension of government subsidies.

The education problem in the United States is twofold—shortage of teachers and shortage of school houses.

Reports collected by the United Press today from principal cities indicate the first phase is gradually being obviated through increased salaries.

Housing apparently will take years to straighten out.

Attendance of 81,940 last year, anticipated an increase of 14,000 today. Of the $2,000,000 worth of buildings now under construction sufficient space was expected in the next 90 days to barely take care of the 14,000.

There are 820 schools here now and $46,920,327.50 for new schools is to be asked next year.

Many Cities Crippled

An average salary increase of $100 a year in Chicago wiped out the shortage of teachers there.

There is still considerable congestion in the schools.

Boston reported 175 portable school buildings in use to help care for its 112,000 scholars, an increase of 3,000 over last year. A commission on salaries recently recommended increases of $550 to $300 a year.

Pittsburgh raised its teachers $500 a year.

San Francisco was experiencing a shortage of teachers' substitutes. An increase of 5,000 was noted in attendance.

The shortage of teachers in Denver was so great educational requirements have been abolished.

NO WORK AND HIGH PRICES MAKE TROUBLE CENTER OF HUNGARY

Budapest, Sept. 16.—"No work and high prices are making Hungary a trouble center," said Count Etienne Croy Chaul, who claims to be the most legitimate candidate for the throne of Hungary.

"We have here upwards of 100,000 workmen who are either without work or else have to work for 1,000 crowns a month, the price of a pair of shoes," he continued. "Besides, we have 150,000 government employes left over from old Hungary whose pay is about that of the workmen. Then we have 50,000 army officers who insist that they be paid. Then there is a large number of land owners from the provinces given to Serbia, the Czechs and the Rumanians, who have no means of livelihood, having been driven from their lands.

"When these people begin considering their troubles, they turn to the wealthy Jews as the cause, or also to the Communists, and therein lies the origin of the so-called 'white terror'."

"The immediate solution for these people is to emigrate but for that they have not the money or else cannot secure passports. They cannot become farmers overnight. Even if the government divided the land they would need to learn to farm and would need capital to build houses and buy machinery. The factories cannot start because of lack of coal and raw materials."

"Hungary has lost more than any nation in Europe by the peace treaty. In addition she has had two costly revolutions. It is no wonder our minds are dazed."

"It would be a charity if our surplus educated population was helped to emigrate to South America or some country where it could start life anew."

COWARDICE GREATEST SIN OF CONGRESS

Honolulu, T. H., Sept. 16.—Morr Howardice is one of the crowning evils of congress, said Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, the other day in an address before the Rotary club of Honolulu. Senator Smoot is on a business trip to the Hawaiian islands, where the "Mormon" interests have large holdings. Arraigning congress for its lack of "backbone," the senator said:

"If the politicians, the morally cowardly men who always are looking out for their seats in congress, who speak one way and act another, could be made to act honestly, if we could get congress to vote as congress really thinks the nation would be all right. But one of the crowning evils of the day is moral cowardice."

"I wish every man, every true American, would take an interest in politics in its true sense," Senator Smoot continued. "When I hear complaints about the government and government officials I feel like asking: 'What have you done to better conditions?' Eighty percent would have to answer that they took no interest at all."

UTAH HAS COAL ENOUGH TO LAST SEVERAL DECADES

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 16.—There is in Utah 1,250,000,000 tons of high grade coal enough to supply the entire world for several decades, according to a report made public by William Bailey, secretary of the state land and coal collection and William Bailey, secretary of the state land and coal collection.
